A message from our Rabbi

A Winning Team

Everybody likes to be part of a winning team. If you are a part of a winning team, then you feel like a winner. Of course, the flip side is that very few people enjoy being on a losing team. Even more so, few retain their pride in declaring over and over that their team has come out the loser. Over the past several years, in newspapers, at conferences, and even in some synagogues, there have been rabbis, sociologists, and statisticians who have said that the Conservative Movement in America is becoming a losing team.

That is hard news for someone who has dedicated their life to bringing people closer to God, Torah, and Judaism, specifically Conservative Judaism. How refreshing it was, then, for me last month when I attended the Rabbinical Assembly Convention in Las Vegas and heard a very different message from not one, not two, not even three, but four different leaders of the Conservative Movement. These leaders said out loud what I have thought for years, but rarely heard any of our leaders say.

What is it I heard?

I heard Rabbi Bradley Shavit Artson, Rabbi David Wolpe, Rabbi Edward Feinstein, and Chancellor Arnold Eisen each say, in their own way, that far from being a losing team, Conservative Judaism has already won the game in American Jewish life. Specifically, they pointed to the fact that those both to the right and the left of the Conservative Movement have, over the past number of years, moved closer and closer in religious outlook and religious observance to Conservative Judaism. The concepts of pluralism, egalitarianism in different forms, and a deeply-rooted religious observance and culture that is nevertheless always evolving and responding to the challenges of the times, have become accepted by many in the Reform and the Modern Orthodox world. So Temple Beth-El, a long-time member of the Conservative Movement, can declare itself a winner.

And yet, these leaders also pointed out that while we have won the major ideological war in this country, there is one area in which we have actually been losing. That is in the area of public relations and messaging. It is in these areas, we were told, that all too often members of our movement fail. Rather than display absolute pride in what we believe in and who we are, too often Conservative rabbis, cantors, lay leaders, and congregants act rather meekly, afraid of their own shadows and unsure of their own convictions.

But we should not be afraid of who we are. We are the inheritors of a 3,500 year tradition that has always embraced change and adapted to the cultures around us while preserving the most integral parts of our tradition. We know that our ancestors have always adapted. This is clear in the Mishnah and Talmud as we transitioned from biblical to rabbinic Judaism. This is clear in the varying customs of Jews around the world. Having just finished Passover, we all know there are major differences between Sephardic and Ashkenazi observance of the holiday. Beyond that, there were other differences involving things as varied as “traditional” Jewish foods, clothing, life-cycle observances, and other religious observances.

I have told people for years that I am not only a proud Jew, but proud to call myself a Conservative Jew and a rabbi affiliated with this movement. I believe that if I had a time machine and brought many of the great rabbis from throughout history to the 21st century, they would land in a Conservative synagogue. Those on the right and left of us, through their own changing behaviors, tell us that we are on the winning side of the theological and philosophical contest. Now it is time for us Conservative Jews to finally acknowledge the truth of our convictions and take pride in who and what we are—a winning team, people, and movement.

Rabbi Maribel D. Goldstein

Bylaws review committee:

Thank you for your response to cemetery projects

The response of our congregation to the new fee for cemetery maintenance has been especially positive and rewarding. I extend my deepest appreciation to those who have already stepped forward to pay their fee. Because of your willingness to support the work of your cemetery committee, we are able to proceed with meeting our long-range plans to make our Block 40 a section of Elmwood that will be a model for the entire cemetery.

We have begun work to improve gravesites, one by one. Our landscapers are refilling and re-sodding sunken graves, lifting sunken footstones, and trimming overgrown shrubbery. Our overall goal is to have a healthy growth of Emerald Zoysia. A contract with Tru-Green has been in place for several years, and we are beginning to see results with a reduction in weeds and healthier turf. Each summer, we contract for watering services. While this service cannot serve each gravesite individually, we try to target newly-sodded sites and newly-planted shrubbery that our landscapers have planted.

A contract with our own David Heiman's Environmental Land Design provides bi-monthly cleaning around every headstone. We see good results already from David's work.

Elmwood management has been extremely supportive of our efforts and continues to mow and clean on a regular basis. In addition,

Elmwood has a grant to completely remove overgrown shrubbery and unhealthy trees from sites. They will work with us to remove any shrubbery that we identify. If you are willing for the shrubbery around your family's headstone to be removed, Elmwood will provide that service. Please call me at 205-879-5814 if you would like to have this service. You have spent a large sum to purchase a beautiful headstone. It is a shame if the shrubbery that you planted overgrows and covers the stone.

Maintenance of a large property, like our cemetery, is an on-going process, subject to the whims of weather and the environment. We

A note from Moreh Maksim

Sixty-three years ago, on May 14, 1948, two thousand years since its inhabitants were exiled, the sun set over the land called Palestine for the final time. At one second past midnight, British control over Palestine ended. The descendants of the original inhabitants reclaimed their land. The State of Israel emerged as the home of the Jewish people.

Eleven minutes later, the United States, under the leadership of President Truman, became the first nation to acknowledge the claim of the Jewish people to their homeland in Israel.

Six minutes past midnight, Lebanon, Jordan, Syria, Iraq, and Egypt declared war against Israel. The War of Independence lasted eight months, resulting in 8,000 people, or 1% of the total population, being killed. When the truce was declared in January 1949, Israel had gained 21% more land than it was originally assigned.

Today, across college campuses, in high schools, and in the news, the only democratic state in the region is under attack. Israel is the only nation that has to explain, year after year, that it has the legitimate right to exist, and has to continually defend itself.

Realizing the threat that Israel faces on a daily basis, during May, Club Kadima is asking our congregants to stand with Israel.

Here are two ways to show your support for Israel:

- ✧ Generously drop money into our Teen Tzedakkah boxes. The money raised in May will be donated to the Birmingham Jewish Federation's Israel programs.
- ✧ Submit five reasons to me why you stand with Israel. Your reasons will be published in June's Connection.

To kick-off this project, I am pledging $63 to honor Israel's 63rd birthday. I am also presenting my five reasons why I support Israel:

1. After a natural disaster strikes in the world, Israel is always the first nation to establish a working hospital within 48 hours of the disaster striking.

2. Israel is the only democratic country in the Middle East.
3. Only in Israel can you hear an announcement for Shacharit, Mincha, and Maariv at the Jerusalem zoo, malls, and bus terminals.
4. Israel is the only country in the Middle East where Jews, Muslims, Christians, women, and gays can be elected to a political office. In fact, Golda Meir is the only woman in the Middle East to have held the position of Prime Minister.
5. Israel is the only country in the Middle East that will allow Christians to have a Bible, Muslims to have a Koran, and Hindus to have a Shrutu, etc. All individuals are allowed to practice their religions without persecution.

Together, we can show the world that wherever a Jew stands, he stands with Israel.

B'Chazak and Bracha,

Moreh Maksim

A five-minute journey to our traditions

Amos 9:11-15 teaches, "I will restore my people Israel. They should rebuild ruined cities and inhabit them; they shall plant vineyards and drink their wine. They shall till gardens and eat their fruits. And I will plant them upon their soil, nevermore to be uprooted from the soil I have given them said the Lord your God." This prophecy by Amos, 2,800 hundred years ago, seemed to foretell the Jews return to Eretz Israel. And Amos was correct in another way: Today, Israel produces world-winning wines, grapefruits, grape tomatoes, olives, and peppers for its own consumption and for export.

If you haven't been to Israel, or if you're putting off the trip, I strongly urge you to go. If you want to see traditions come alive, walk the streets your ancestors walked, and pray at the Western Wall, go experience Israel. Please, don't delay any longer! Experience the prophecy yourself.

Youth Minyan message

In honor of Israel's 63rd birthday, I'm changing my usual message format to Youth Minyan. Instead, I'm sharing with you my personal prayer for Medinat Israel.

I urge you to develop your own prayer and share it during Youth Minyan. I look forward to hearing your prayers.

My prayer for Israel:

Holy One, the Light of Truth, the source of wisdom, strength, and the defender of generations, in the name of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, Sarah, Rebecca, Rachel, and Leah, guide your people of Israel to remember the rebirth of Your nation.

O God! Help your people and the soldiers that guard Your Israel to mourn our losses and to celebrate our victories. Bless Israel and her neighbors with an eternal peace.

O God of our forefathers, bring peace, love, and justice to the land of Israel and her people.

Sisterhood Nominating Committee

Sisterhood is in the process of working on nominations for our Board for the 2011-2012 year.

We have presented some very exciting and innovative programs this past year, and we are now planning new, and even better, events for the coming year. As we look to the future, we would love to hear from our Temple Beth-El women who would like to be more involved in Sisterhood, as well as receive suggestions regarding programming that would interest you.

We are looking forward to next year with great enthusiasm, and we hope that we can encourage many more of our women to join us in the camaraderie and pleasures of Sisterhood.

Keep tuned,

Ellen and Loraine

Endowment Fund

Temple Beth-El Foundation Fund— Foundation profile: Barbara Bonfield

Barbara Bonfield joined the Foundation Board in May 2010. The Foundation is fortunate to have her as a new member.

Her previous participation on boards representing a variety of Jewish organizations, and her professional experiences as a social worker, provide her with a unique perspective. Barbara has donated many volunteer hours to TBE. To honor her past, present, and future contribution of time and energy, this interview was conducted to encourage others to follow her example of sharing their most valuable resources, time, and expertise.

Question: Many Board members have a special project or interest at TBE. Are you currently focusing your energy on a special project?

Barbara: “Yes. When my husband, Bobby, died in 2001, I became aware of the poor quality of ground maintenance at Elmwood. I expressed my concerns to Steven Corenblum, who was then President of TBE’s Board of Directors. He responded by appointing me to the Board of Directors and asked me to serve as the chairperson of the newly-formed Cemetery Maintenance Committee. My primary concerns were, and still are:

- ✧ Sinking graves should be filled and kept level;
- ✧ Grave sites should be clean and free of weeds and undergrowth;

- ✧ Headstones and footstones should not be overgrown;
- ✧ Shrubbery should be kept neat; and
- ✧ Someone must monitor Elmwood to ensure staff fulfills their duties by cutting grass, clearing limbs and debris, and maintaining the overall appearance of the cemetery.

I have focused my energies on finding the funds and securing the workers to achieve these goals. In 2001, when this committee was formed, I quickly realized that no funds were earmarked specifically for this maintenance. It was evident that families with members buried in TBE’s Block 40 would eventually have to share in the cemetery’s upkeep expense. Over the last few years, the TBE Foundation and the Norris Friedman family have provided generous funding for this maintenance, but there was a need to replenish these Foundation funds. The Cemetery Maintenance Committee has recently sent its first annual Cemetery Maintenance bill to families with individuals interred in Block 40. With the help of this annual billing, it is my hope that Block 40 will always be given the care needed to keep this area properly maintained.

Question: What is your goal for the TBE Foundation, and how do you plan to participate in ensuring its perpetuation?

Barbara: I was raised in Lincoln, Alabama, where my parents instilled in me, my sisters, and my brother the importance of a strong Jewish identity and the spirit of volunteerism. In 1958, after receiving my degree in social work at the University of Montevallo, Bobby and I married, and I became an active member at TBE where Bobby and his family had long been members. After we had children, we became even more rooted in congregational life. Bobby and I were always involved—he teaching Sunday School and me working with Sisterhood. For me, Temple is the hub of Jewish community life. For that reason, it is important to me that I continue to actively work to ensure the Foundation’s mission: to perpetuate the vibrancy of Conservative Judaism at Temple Beth-El by sustaining a strong endowment. The Temple should never be a place that reduces congregational services based on lack of fiscal solvency. I feel strongly that TBE must be available for the congregants’ spiritual and generational needs and life-cycle events. For that reason, it pleases me that I can participate on the Foundation’s Board of Directors. That’s also why making arrangements for a Planned Gift to TBE was important to me. Through their actions, my parents instilled in me a sense of responsibility for future generations. Members of our congregation have demonstrated the same commitment, and it is my hope that other congregants will join me in supporting the important work of the Foundation.

Recent donations

The Foundation has received a generous testamentary gift from Anita and Julian Lichter. This gift has been used to initiate a Foundation Fund in their name.

know you will sometimes be displeased with what you find when you visit the graves of your loved ones. Please do not hesitate to let us know your concerns.

One day, we want you to arrive at the cemetery and catch your breath because it is so attractive. We dream of a time when we can have a lovely little bridge, flowering shrubs, and trees in strategic areas. For now, we will continue to work on the basics. With your continued support, all of our dreams can be achieved.

Barbara G. Bonfield, Chairman
 Cemetery Maintenance Committee

Memorial lights

In the book of Psalms we read: "The light of the Lord is the soul of man."

These words are so significant that they are engraved in the Ner Tamid, the eternal light in our sanctuary. Each Shabbat, and every Festival, we light candles to mark the holiday and bring a symbol of God's light into our hearts and into our homes. Five times a year we light a Yahrzeit candle. The light of the candle reminds us of our departed loved ones and our faith that their spirits live in the presence of God.

A memorial plaque dedicated to your loved one is a lasting tribute that will reside in our sanctuary forever. On the day of their passing, and on each Yizkor day, the light will glow, reminding us of their lives and our love for them.

Important donation information

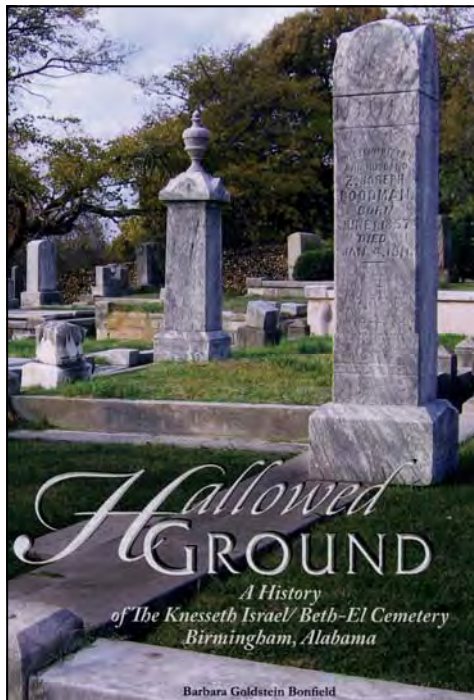

The Board voted at the February meeting to raise the minimum donation to $10, effective June 1.

With the cost of postage and printing increasing, we hope you will agree that this is a reasonable change after keeping the minimum donation rate constant for so many years. Many of you already make more than the minimum donation whenever you want to recognize a friend or family member's simcha or life-cycle event.

We appreciate your generosity and continuing support of Temple Beth-El!

Remember “Hallowed Ground” for gifts

As you look for gifts for Mother's Day and Father's Day, remember “Hallowed Ground,” TBE's history of the KI/Beth-El Cemetery.

Filled with stories about early Birmingham Jewish families, it may include some of your ancestors, and is a great resource for understanding many of the family connections in this city. The book is available through TBE's gift shop or from its author, Barbara Bonfield at bbonfield@bellsouth.net. A portion of the sale price of each book, after printing costs are paid, remains with Temple Beth-El. Therefore, your purchase will also be a donation to the temple.
